1. Information product

a. Introduce

A wallet is a small, flat case that can be used to carry such small personal items as paper currency, credit cards, and identification documents (driver's license, identification card, club card, etc.), photographs, transit pass, business cards and other paper or laminated cards.

A purse is designed to hold your wallet and many other items, including your home keys, smartphone, makeup, a bottle of water, and anything else you might need throughout the day.

In addition to their practical function, wallet and purse may be used as a fashion accessory, or to demonstrate the style, wealth, or status of the owner.

b. Types

- Bi-fold wallet: a type of wallet in which the banknotes are folded over once. Credit cards and identification cards may be stored horizontally or vertically.

- Tri-fold wallet: a wallet with two folds, in which credit cards are generally stored vertically.

- Front pocket wallet: a case with no currency compartment and very few pockets for cards. Usually banknotes are folded and held in a wallet compartment.

- Long wallet: a larger wallet usually worn with jeans, fastened by a chain, strap, or leather rein. Bills are held flat, and long wallets typically have a coin purse.

- Side by side wallet: divides the contents into two stacks instead of one, so it is half as thick.

- The baguette purse: has with one or two short straps which makes it a great to wear with dressier clothing

- Coin purse: is a small money bag or pouch, made for carrying coins
